Appendix 1

Protocol for flying the Australian National Flag

- The Australian National flag should only to be flown at night if illuminated.
- Order of precedence – Australian National flag; national flag of other nations, state and territory flags, other Australian flags prescribed by the Flags Act 1953 eg Australian Aboriginal flag and Torres Strait Islander flag, ensigns and pennants
- When flying the Australian National flag and any other flags in a line of flagpoles the Australian National flag should always be flown on the far left of a person facing the flags.

The placement of other flags after the National Australian flag is generally determined by the number of people they represent within the City.

- When flying the Australian national flag with other flags in a line of flagpoles, the order of the flags should follow the rules of precedence eg the Australian National flag should always be flown on the far left of a person facing the flags, or in the centre where there are three flag poles and the centre pole is higher. Note that no other flag should be flown above a national flag.
- In a semi-circle of flags, the Australian National flag should be in the centre.
- The flag should not be allowed to fall or lie on the ground.
- The flag should not be used to cover a statue, monument or plaque for an unveiling ceremony; to cover a table or seat; or to mask boxes etc.
- The flag should not be flown when in damaged, faded or dilapidated condition.
- The flag should not normally be flown in a position inferior to that of any other flag or ensign.
- The flag should not be smaller than that of any other flag or ensign.
- The flag should be raised briskly and lowered ceremoniously.
- The flag should always be flown aloft and free as close as possible to the top of the flag mast, with the rope tightly secured.
- The flag should be raised no earlier than first light and should be lowered no later than dusk.
- Two flags should not be flown from the same flagpole.
- The flag should not be flown upside down, not even as a signal of distress.

*Uncontrolled once removed from webpage or Onkanet (printed or downloaded).
Before using a printed or downloaded copy, verify that it is the current version.*

Protocol for Flying of the Australian National Flag at half-mast

- Flags are flown in the half-mast position as a sign of mourning.
- When flying the Australian National Flag with other flags, all flags in the set should be flown at half-mast. The Australian National Flag should be raised first and lowered last.
- To bring the flag to the half-mast position, the flag must first be raised to the top of the mast (the 'peak') then immediately lowered slowly to the half-mast position. An acceptable position would be when the top of the flag is a third of the distance down from the top of the flagpole.
- When lowering the flag from a half-mast position, it should first be briefly raised to the peak, then be lowered ceremoniously.
- Under no circumstances should a flag be flown at half-mast at night, whether or not the flag is illuminated.
