2021-22 Environment and Sustainability Grant

Applicant	Project/program title	Project/program details	Amount allocated
The Field Naturalists Society of South Australia Inc	Consolidate Weed Control on Manning Reserve to Support Volunteer Work & Community Engagement	Owned and managed by FNSSA since 1955, Manning Reserve is open to public visitation. Now part of the Willunga Basin Trail network, countless locals and visitors from further afield, enjoy walking through the reserve. Although small (45ha) among a sea of vineyards, this Pink Gum Woodland on deep sand, has a diverse Heath understorey, is home to more than 260 native plant species (35 orchids) and 71 bird species and is the only intact patch of this vegetation in the Southern Vales.	$3,000
Woodcroft College Early Learning Centre	Gardening at ELC: Teaching Patience, responsibility and so much more	We aim to add 2 garden beds complete with a sub pod composter/worm station into the ELC outdoor area to enable and encourage our 3 and 4 year old's to plant seeds and support them to grow, reuse their food waste in the compost system and learn about how the worms interact to produce nutrients for the new plants. The children will be involved in each step of the process to ensure their respect for the garden beds and desire to see them flourish. The children will continue to be responsible for the care and maintenance of the garden beds and the Kindergarten children will be able to support the younger 3 year old's to be careful with our plants and composter. Children will learn that things take time to flourish and need care and support each day. As one garden bed will be designated for food growth, the resulting food can be shared at ELC meal times exposing children to garden to plate learning.	$590
Aldinga Arts Eco Village	Biochar burner and community education	For the past 5 years we have coppiced some of our Eucalypts (cut off above ground level and allow the trees to regrow from the stump) for the purpose of making biochar (a charcoal type product). This requires a specialised burner / kiln for efficient production.	$2,426
Aberfoyle Community Garden	Connect Aberfoyle community garden to students at Thiele Primary School	By improving the community garden we create a space to invite school students to become involved in growing food and saving seeds. By building garden beds we are able to increase productivity and students are invited to connect to the environment and learn sustainability practices. Aberfoyle Community Garden aims to encourage people to work together and share resources as our garden beds are communal. All produce is shared in both growing and harvesting and collecting seeds for future planting.	$998
The Food Embassy	Community engagement in sustainable and localised food system for climate change.	The project will mentor alumni of the Food Matters events series ( which will be delivered late 2020 and again in 2021 - pending event grant funding) , as citizen food leaders, to develop 4 community-led food system initiatives that contribute to mitigating against climate change. Citizen-action on sustainable eating and localised food systems is important for reducing greenhouse gas emissions and thereby mitigating against climate change.	$3,000
Grassroots Childcare Pty Ltd	Christies Beach Hearts & Minds environment project	Investing in more native plants for the yard to attract native birds to the area & assist in the children and the community learning about local native flora & fauna. We plan on asking families to donate their time in the form of working bee on a weekend to improve our yard area. We would like to create a paper recycling station to re-purpose and re-use paper, which in turn will reduce paper ending up in landfill.	$1,000
Neighbourhood Watch- sub committee O'Sullivan Beach Improvement Committee	Roopena Community Garden Project	Utilising the rear garden space we have established a Community Garden where a mixture of vegetables and other edible plants are being grown under the guidance of a local volunteer gardener. A growing number of children's programs attend the garden where it forms both an outside classroom and education centre as well as providing a venue for the fostering of relationships within significant family groups; one such program is Kids and Dads. The local community is encouraged to be involved in the garden through becoming a volunteer and assisting in the garden, attending the Friday meet and greet sessions or simply enjoying the garden and the produce it provides at no cost. Growing and sustaining food crops requires a regular, reliable and economical watering system for the gardens and our project is looking to install a rain water tank with a pump to support the irrigation system and the sustainability of the community garden.	$3,000

Adopt A Spot Scheme	Adopt a Spot Scheme Webpage	Webpage would include, Recognition/reward of volunteer and scheme achievements, Links to other local environmental/sustainable groups, business, services, community events, petitions. Group clean information - allowing for the public to be involved. Remote learning on key topics: recycling, waste hierarchy, circular economy, eco footprint, global consumerism. Provision of learning materials, video content, links, books, projects. Train the trainer-setting our people up with resources to deliver content on key themes to wider community. Make learning fun, youth engagement/interaction. Safety training video and paperwork -required for all volunteers. Share case of data , findings & photographs – support council projects, infrastructure & development and state legislation on recycling propoals and plastic bans. Mapping of spots covered – Seaford Secondary College currently trialling this data capture mapping project. Sustainable practice ideas.	$2,194
Southern Montessori School	Middle School Water Sustainability	We are aiming to transition our small school to an environmentally friendly, sustainable site, founded on permaculture principles. Students are currently repurposing old pallets that were ready to be discarded by the local council to raised vegetable gardens (3m x 1m). This project was inspired by student ideas through their cultural studies learning, in which the push from a group of students was to begin urban farming at school. Students proposed we could feed 100 people all year round on fruits and vegetables at our school. For this to be successful, careful and considered water management is paramount. We aim to catch and conserve as much water from our buildings as possible to feed our gardens. Through science lessons we students will design and create their own watering devices that measure the level of water in the soil and automatically feed plants.	$1,000
Friends of Aldinga Scrub (Friends of Parks Inc)	Getting to know our native bees in Aldinga Scrub	This project will deliver a workshop to 30 participants who will be members of Friends of Aldinga Scrub and also the wider community. The workshop will be delivered by Dr Remko Leijs from the SA Museum and Dr Katja Hogendoorn from the University of Adelaide who are recognised experts in South Australia in native bees. The workshop will involve a 2 hour 'classroom' session where Remko and Katja will speak for an hour or so about native bees, including time for questions from the participants. Remko and Katja will then teach people how to distinguish between some bee groups by projecting specimens on to screen and helping participants learn how to identify bees through photographs they have taken. The second session will involve a field trip in Aldinga Scrub Conservation Park where Remko and Katja will lead groups to look for bees, catch some bees on flowers, and explain about them and their different flower preferences. Remko and Katja would also take participants to our newly installed bee exclosures, look at the bee hotels, explain the doors, and observe the activity.	$850
Willunga High School	Waste Stream Management in Home Economics	The project is to set up both Home Economics kitchens at Willunga High School with dedicated purpose built waste stream management facilities for the ongoing management of food preparation and classroom waste. These waste stream management facilities will help manage and divert waste from landfill and educate students in waste management. The waste streams to be focussed on in this project are colour coded to match home recycling options (red, yellow and green) with the addition of a black waste stream for soft plastics.	$500
Christies Sailing Club Inc	Christies Sailing Club Solar Panels Project	We are undertaking this Solar Panels project for two primary reasons: 1). in order to reduce our very high energy costs, and 2.) as responsible community citizens in the fight to reduce green-house gasses and subsequent global warming. This is also the final major step (at this point in time), in our efforts to ensure the efficient use of energy at our club.	$5,000
